

SUPPLEMENTARY CARE INSURANCE

PflegetagegeldBest and PflegeBahr at a glance

Why do I need supplementary care insurance?

Every one of us wants to have good health and fitness right through to old age. However, three out of five people eventually require care due to an accident or illness. The benefits of the statutory care insurance only provide basic cover. With a private care policy, you secure financial independence should you require care.

EXAMPLE 1

Bernard has recently been diagnosed with Parkinson's disease and requires first-degree care. His daughter contacts the Allianz care hotline. They provide detailed advice and arrange an outpatient service for home care. A domestic assistant helps with cleaning and washing twice a week.

Cost: EUR 654 per month

EXAMPLE 2

Martin suffers from multiple sclerosis as well as from incipient dementia and requires third-degree care. At home, he is looked after four times a day by an outpatient care service. He also attends a movement group twice a week.

Cost: EUR 2,710 per month

EXAMPLE 3

Susanne fell in an accident on black ice. Excessive cerebral bleeding led to irreversible damage. Since then, she has been in fifth-degree care in a nearby nursing home.

Cost: EUR 4,503 per month

The figures are based on nationwide, average care costs.

Good to know

Particularly recommended for: anyone who wants to supplement the basic cover of the statutory care insurance.

Not suitable: if the requirement of care has already been determined.

Decision on degree of care: submit an application to your private health insurer or health insurance fund at an early stage. An assessment will then decide whether you have a recognised degree-of-care status.

Contribution: The earlier you take out your supplementary care insurance, the cheaper it will be.

Voluntary care: Allianz also reimburses the full benefit if the care is carried out by relatives or neighbours, for example.

Insurance conditions: This information only provides an overview of the benefits. The current insurance conditions at the time you take out the policy will determine your insurance cover.
